Amelia White, Jessica Virna : Soap Making (Organic Soap Recipes, Bath Bombs, Essential Oils) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Soap Making (Organic Soap Recipes, Bath Bombs, Essential Oils):

There are zero photos or illustrations here, making it difficult to follow along for some readers. It is also very lazily done. You will commonly see phrases like "complete steps 1-6 of recipe xxxxxxxx, then do this." This is obnoxious, because you have to flip back and forth between pages, likely while your hands are covered with some soap mixture. If this were for any good reason, like reducing the number of pages in the book, and as a result lowering its cost, that would be okay. However, about 1/3 of the pages in the book you are paying for are advertisements for similar books in the back. Do not buy this book. You will be able to find more competent, complete instructions on blogs online, with half the advertisements. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. shopperBy MKI am very disappointed with this purchase. I bought much better Soap Making books that were cheaper too. It is a 60 pages document with 18 pages advertisement unrelated to soap making. It is not paginated, does not have index or contents. The recipes are very basic and hard to follow. The author or publisher did not put any effort to make this a presentable book in both appearance and/ or content. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great Soap Recipes! By MelB This is a great step by step guide on how to make soap. There are lists inside of the book of every tool and the ingredients you will need to start soap making. Included in the book are many soap recipes. My personal favorite so far is the "Relaxing Lavender Soap," it smells so good! I can't wait to make more soaps from this book, there are even many recipes included on how to make homemade laundry soap. This is a great book!

Hidden Benefits of This book The very best reason to use handmade soap is the ingredients. Typically handmade soap is made of vegetable oils and butters that are rich in antioxidants, vitamins and nutrients that are essential to healthy skin. I can't count how many times people have told me that handmade soap has not only improved their skin, but changed their lives by relieving them of itchiness, dryness and skin conditions such as eczema, psoriasis and acne. Everyone wants healthy skin and switching to daily use of handmade soap is the best place to start. It is commonly called soap, but that mass produced commercial stuff that you get at the grocery store is anything but. You have an array of personal cleansers to choose from that are labeled as deodorant soap, body bars, body washes and my personal favorite (eyes roll) the beauty bar. These are just chemical cocktails made of detergents and downright disturbing synthetic ingredients that dehydrate and age skin, cause allergic reactions and have been linked to various forms of cancer. Handmade soap is the real deal and one of the most appealing aspects is that harmful and unnecessary ingredients are NOT added to make it.
