I'm a first time soap maker and one day I was watching a soap making YouTube video and she suggested "SoapyLove" book to learn more about melt and pour and techniques! I haven't done any of it yet being that I just got it last week. I'm reading it first, then I'll execute my mission. Really, if you want to get into soap making business, or do it just for fun! This is the book to get. Good Luck! Happy soaping.8 of 8 people found the following review helpful. The most creative MP soap book I have seen!By Erin PikorThis book is a must for any MP soap crafter including those just starting out. The projects are creative and the easy step by step instructions are easy to follow and photographed beautifully. The book takes you from beginner projects to more advanced techniques, and I love that the author included transfer sheets and instructions on making texture sheets, an important skill you can utilize to make one of a kind soaps! The author also included useful information on the beginner techniques like layering soap and mixing color, with basic information on fragrance, color, and types of molds. Then, you delve right into colorful and creative projects which kept me interested and excited through every project! I honestly have not seen another book like this and highly recommend it! I do suggest before you start, make note of all of the projects you want to try and get all of your supplies at once! That way you will have everything on hand when that creative inspiration strikes, and you won't have to wait for supplies to ship to you, or go out to the store in a hurry. I found that a lot of suppliers also have color samplers and scent samplers so you won't have to buy full size jars of colorants or fragrance at the start! 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. I truly love this book By Thebreeze I truly love this book. I bought it used, but it has everything I was looking for in making different shapes of my soap. I bring it with me when I am doing festivals and selling my soaps. Customers seem intrigued that even though I am selling soaps, that I am still reading on how to make more soaps. Thanks.
