Katherine Kuh : The Artist's Voice: Talks With Seventeen Modern Artists before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Artist's Voice: Talks With Seventeen Modern Artists:

To quote Robert Hughes, All critics concerned with American painting will be Kuh's debtors from now on. Interviewed in the 1960s, the painters and sculptors Katherine Kuh spoke with provide insights into their work that remain illuminating and relevant. The author allows the artists to comment in their own words on their inspirations, philosophies, and creative processes and to debunk common myths about their work. Sometimes the results are surprising: abstract painter Josef Albers confesses to being a realist, while realist painter Ivan Albright firmly denies the charge. Marcel Duchamp professes surprise over the controversy stirred by his Nude Descending a Staircase, and Edward Hopper insists that his supposed themes of loneliness and nostalgia are entirely unintentional.
