

[Ebook free] The Candle Lighting Encyclopedia

The Candle Lighting Encyclopedia

Tina Ketch

*ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#2005136 in Books 2001-06-19Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 9.00 x .96 x 6.00l, .83 #File Name: 0962114391280 pages | File size: 23.Mb

Tina Ketch : The Candle Lighting Encyclopedia before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Candle Lighting Encyclopedia:

2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Candle Lighting with a purposeBy D. SavinoI have been using this book since the 90's but mine fell apart and I needed a new updated version. I will not be without it. Candle lighting brings a lots of peace in a crazy world. I highly recommend it.3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. CANDLE LIGHTINGBy MarciaAll ways like to keep the current copy of Candle Lighting. it is very inspirational and keep me focus - my brother told me about this book years ago. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars

By Barbara Learned alot

Candle Lighting can and will enhance the quality of your life, giving you another dimension in which you alone are in complete control. Studies have been performed to determine the psychological effects that various colors have on human behavior. These studies were conclusive in their results - the same principal holds true when lighting colored candles. This book includes over 1600 different topics along with a ten year timing guide in which to light your candles - so that you might achieve the success, love and happiness that you have been looking for.

From the Author My studies and research from the Catholic Church and religion took me through intense resolution into elements of Jungian psychology, and through the back door of physics, where all things are possible, from the splitting of the atom to the inability to destroy energy. Many people are eager to place my titles under the classification of occult, or under the heading of magic. On the other hand, where I have no problem with these classifications, this is not the method in which my titles were written. In science, we see that for every action there is an opposite and equal reaction. This is called physics. In metaphysics, we see that for every cause there is an effect. This is called karma. In the Eastern philosophies, we see that the belief is that, as above so is it below, and in the Western society, and in the bible, we see it written that "to every thing there is a season and time to every purpose under the heavens... a time to get and a time to lose: a time to keep, and a time to cast away." This book was written to show the reader that there is nothing to fear, and that belief systems are all-encompassing with the concepts of psychology and science. By lighting a candle so that you might manifest a desire, you are not placing other Gods before the creator of your universe. This is not magic. It is mathematical logic. There is a mathematical formula to ascertain the vibrational level of color. As quoted in Scientific America, "It is no exaggeration to say that the splitting of light into color of its spectrum is man's most powerful tool for investigating the universe...". You, also, don't have to look far to find that the splitting of an atom is possible where the destruction of energy is impossible. It has also been medically proven over and over that at the precise moment of death the human body loses 3 ounces of body weight. It has been argued that the soul leaves the body and the time of death. If this is so, is it the soul that weighs 3 ounces, and if this is also so, is the soul energy, and if this is so, and energy cannot be destroyed, where is this soul upon physical death going? Now it has been argued that, at the time of death, the soul leaves the physical body and ascends to heaven, joining God. I will never say that is not so. However, I have, also, been involved in studies where the soul, if you will, incarnates once again into another physical body. Now, it has taken years of research, and even longer gathering proof of this concept's existence, as my Doctoral degree in theology has predetermined my mind against such a thing from happening. Yet, I have concluded that this is possible, and that not only is it possible, but probable. From the standpoint of a theologian, I say that God is a just and merciful god, and that if he is smart enough to devise conception and birth into the physical life once, would he not be smart enough to do it twice, three times or how ever many times it takes? It is for all of these questions that I have written this book, to show you how the vibrational energy within this world in which we live coexists with not only beliefs, concepts, science and psychology, but also into religion and the belief that all things are possible. This book shows that it is not just a coincidence that you were born on the day that you were, with the name that you were given, live in the house that you do and are attracted to the people that you are, and that it is not as much fate, but the universal forces, that have guided and directed you to be where you are to do what you do. It was your desire, and through the information in this book, you might continue to manifest your desires and live the life that you want to live.

About the Author Tina grew up in the metropolitan city of Des Moines, in the heart of the mid-west where people were people and your neighbors were your best friends. This is where her adventure began. A strong Catholic mother and a traditional as well as conservative father raised her with the cultural advantages of the 50 s. This upbringing gave her a belief in values, self-worth and conviction in God. Having grown up with the Catholic Church as a strong influence on her life, Tina quickly learned the benefits of candle lighting to purpose as well as the importance in allowing tumultuous emotions from the past to be laid to rest. Tina's travels and extended quest throughout Europe gave her not only comparative cultural lifestyles to explore new and interesting religious experience to which she incorporated with that which she had as a child. Thus, allowing her passion for religious studies to take on a new dimension bringing together this new aspect of her learned knowledge incorporating this with religious dogma and spirituality, lending to a viable semblance to her personality. Tina Ketch is a living-breathing example of the metaphysical concept of manifestation of desire. She lives what she believes and practices that which she preaches. Tina holds tight to the concept that life does not have to hurt and that we need not design life to be difficult. Through her work as a counselor, life coach, writer and lecturer she has incorporated this concept into her teachings, passing it on to those with whom she has come in contact, lending to positive changes within human behavior and expectation of physical manifestation. Presently after raising three fine sons, burring one, Tina resides in a small township outside of Atlanta, where on a daily basis she expects magical changes in her life and in the life of those around her, with grace and acceptance. Tina has found that life is not only that which you create it to be but that which you are willing to accept. Her concept is that the matriarchal and patriarchal societies of the past have given to this new time a multitude of vibrational advantages enabling life to be a more pleasurable experience. Tina's quest has been to research, define and investigate the language of the ancients bridging beliefs together through the understanding of quantum physics, as she believes they are one in the same. Bridging the gap to understanding.