Geoff Klock : The Future of Comics, the Future of Men: Matt Fraction's Casanova before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The Future of Comics, the Future of Men: Matt Fraction's Casanova:

Matt Fraction, Gabriel B, and Fbio Moons Casanova is a stylish adventure about a sexy, amoral, universe-hopping, time-traveling, science-fiction spy caught in a war between militaristic E.M.P.I.R.E. and the decadent and villainous W.A.S.T.E., led by a be-suited and bandaged cackling madman in sunglasses. But beneath its pop surface, Casanova is doing more. It challenges the corporate-driven comic book production model, in which Disney and Time Warner own all the major superheroes. And it critiques the vision of masculinity, limited and damaging, that informs so much of modern superhero comics and movies. From Sequart Organization. More info at <http://sequart.org>
